JUNIOR FOOTBALL

The Youngsters' Season Promises Very Well.

While a cloud of doubt overhangs the prospects of the senior league, the junior footballers are proceeding enthusiastically with their training and promise to furnish the football loving public of Honolulu with some rare good sport.

The High School, Punahou and Kama will participate in a three-cornered series, probably playing two games each.

Percy Benson is coaching the High School and Messrs. Hopwood and Livingston the Kams.

The High School combination has been at work about two weeks and is coming along in first rate fashion. The boys are a trifle hard to get out and shy a bit at the necessary discipline; nevertheless, on the whole they are doing very well. Most of them are quite new at the game. Practice is indulged in every evening by 15 or 16 players.

The Punahou squad is a big one, numbering about 25 men. So far operations on the campus have been confined to starting, fanning on the ball and development work.

The Kams are the dark horses of the league, their work being shrouded in considerable mystery.

The representatives of the junior clubs will meet at the Y. M. C. A. on Friday at 7 p. m. to arrange a schedule.

The Kennel.

The following article on the Dachshund will be of interest to the many dog fanciers in this city:

This peculiar little German dog had been introduced for some time into England before dog-lovers seriously took to it. And how such a crooked-legged, weasel-like little rascal could ever have crept into the affections of doggy people is the thought that at first strikes one. A very long body on very short legs, the knees bent inwards, the feet turned outwards, combined with a long and narrow head, convey the impression of a regular canine monstrosity. But on closer examination the sort intelligent eye, the powerful build for so small a dog, and the general quaintness, lead to the conclusion that first impressions are erroneous; and a lengthened acquaintance proves that the Dachshund is a charming companion.

The peculiar deep bark, and the shortness of leg which brings him nearer the ground, and gives him a quicker sense of hearing, make him an excellent house guard. Being used in his native land for hunting the badger and the fox, he is gifted with great pluck and keen scent. Dr. Stables has given some striking instances of the Dachshund's courage, one dog that he knew of having his lip completely severed by a fox, but killing his foe notwithstanding. A large badger which had defeated no less than six Fox-terriers succumbed in a very short time to a Dachshund. Another dog found a fox hole, not big enough for his admission; so he laid siege to it, and waited for days until the fox, compelled by hunger, bolted, only however to meet his death.

The Dachshund, though very jealous, is capable of the greatest affection. A gentleman, going abroad for a few weeks left his Dachshunds in charge of the kennel-man. One of the dogs, his constant companion when at home, was so disconsolate at his master's departure that he refused to be comforted. At length he came across some of his absent master's clothes and on these he took up his quarters. Nothing would induce him to move from them, so that food had to be carried to him until the owner returned.

There is, of course, a Dachshund club—in fact, there are two—to look after the interests of this interesting dog, and to keep a standard of points for him to be bred up to. The legs of the Dachshund are, perhaps, the most peculiar of any of our dogs. They are very strong and muscular for the size of the animal, and are turned out at the elbows, but bent in at the knees. The fore-feet are large and muscular, and turned outwards, armed with strong claws to enable him to clear his way in the burrow. The shoulders are very loose, giving the appearance of the chest hanging between them. This conformation enables the dog the more readily to enter the badger's earth. The skin is soft and pliant. If the animal is caught up by it at the back there is apparently room enough inside the skin for a couple of dogs. It is a very good practice to bury some bones for a Dachshund to dig for. A slack-jointed puppy with insufficient muscle, will be greatly improved, and will fill out immensely, if it can have some digging exercise of this nature daily for a fortnight or so.

INDICATIONS OF RHEUMATISM.

Sore and swollen joints, sharp, shooting pains, torturing muscles, no rest, no sleep—that means rheumatism. It is a stubborn disease to fight, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm has conquered it thousands of times. One application gives relief. Sold by Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., Agents for Hawaii.

Sportsmanship.

Sportsmanship consists in going into a game for the fun of the thing, determined, as team or individual, to play as hard as possible, let the fortune's of the contests be what they will.

It is an easy matter to wage an athletic battle in the face of almost certain victory.

It takes grit and determination to play an up-hill game and it is those men and teams that balk not at an uninviting prospect of success, who best serve the interests of true sport.

All cannot be winners, some one, some team must perform better on the losing side.

Nor prize, nor glory, but the game's the thing, to be played for all it's worth, to the glorification of well-trained thew and supple sinew and to the physical and mental betterment of the participants.

The determination on the part of an athletic club not to enter a team in a series of games unless it has "an ace in the hole," is unsportsmanlike to a degree.

Such a course pursued by athletic organizations generally would result in deserted diamonds and gridirons barren of brawn. It is unamateur.

On the other hand, let the gospel of the game for the game's sake be more universally accepted and lived up to, and there is no reason why every mercantile firm in town should not have its own baseball nine and football team.

The various leagues would certainly receive augmented entries and for the benefit of new and perhaps weaker teams, fresh leagues might be formed.

M'LEOD'S

GOOD PUT

Local Man Wins in Mainland Athletic Event.

A. C. McLeod, formerly field boss at Kahuku Plantation, returned recently from a visit to his folks at Prince Edward's Island and is now occupying the position of assistant head lina at Wai-pahu Plantation.

McLeod is quite an athlete and possesses strength of no mean order. While away he competed at an athletic meeting at his home and won the 16-pound shot put with the very good distance of 39 feet 6 inches.

He put the 14-pound shot 42 feet 4 inches.

A year or so ago, it will be remembered, McLeod won a similar event against all comers at Waimea, Kauai. He did some boxing while on his vacation, making a creditable showing when he put the gloves on.

McLeod used to be a pupil of Jimmy Fox.

The Automobile.

The Hon. C. S. Rolls, one of the best motor racers in England, has been contributing some of his experiences to a London journal. "I think about the narrowest squeak I ever had when traveling at racing speed on a motor car," said Mr. Rolls, "was when I was driving a car in the great Paris-Vienna race. At one point in the race we were whizzing along finely at about 70 miles an hour, and all was going well until, on rounding a corner, the two outside tires punctured and the car naturally swerved off the track. It made straight for a big tree on the side of the road, and we seemed to be in for a most terrific smash and a very probable termination to our careers, when away went the tree as if it had been merely an optical delusion on our part or had fallen down on hinges. The car knocked it clean away as if it were nothing but a straw, and the next thing we knew was that we were almost buried in a bank, but very little the worse for what had happened."

FOOTBALL

OUTLOOK

Punahou May Not Be in the Senior League.

There may be no intercollegiate football this year.

It was stated yesterday by several Punahou men that the Punahou Athletic Association had decided not to enter a team in the football league.

The reason is said to be that the men don't want to play and that the material in sight doesn't justify the trouble entailed by going into training.

At a recent meeting held to discuss the season's prospects, the Punahous had a representative present in the person of W. Damon. It was then understood that the team would be a factor in the season's games.

If the report be true the Malles and Infantry will probably play one game to decide the championship and let it go at that.

The Malles so far have done no training and are waiting to see how matters shape before commencing preparation.

There will be a meeting of the representatives of the various senior clubs at the University Club this evening at 5 p. m.

English Cricket.

Though their achievements against England have been so conspicuously unsuccessful, the Australian Eleven will leave the year 1905 connected with a few records. Since leaving Sydney, they have compiled nine scores exceeding 500 runs—viz., 533 and 593 for nine wickets against New Zealand; 526 and 555 for six wickets against the Gentlemen of England; 527 against Gloucestershire, 620 against Hampshire, 609 for four wickets against Somerset, 556 against Sussex, and 609 against Northamptonshire. No other Australian eleven has ever approached this record of high scoring. The 1884, 1896, 1899 and 1902 teams each scored over 500 runs in an innings twice only.

When the mail left, C. B. Fry headed the first-class batting averages in England with a total number of runs of 1909, and an average of 70.70. G. Hirst was runner-up with total runs 1513, and an average of 58.77.

J. J. JEFFRIES, WHO MAY VISIT HONOLULU.

JEFFRIES

MAY COME

Boxing Champion Contemplates Visiting Australia.

There is a probability of James Jeffries, the champion boxer of the world, visiting Australia shortly. A cable has been received in Melbourne advising that Jeffries would come out to Australia and fight for the championship if guaranteed 500 pounds and expenses and a 2000 pounds purse. Jeffries has been wired to advising that the terms are accepted. It is proposed to match the winner of the approaching contest in Sydney between Squires and Kerrick against the world's champion.

Already local sports are discussing the probability of Jeffries' visit, for he will pass through here en route to the Colonies, and there is a possibility of a fine exhibition being arranged.

The Track.

The record for the Mile Walk, held by the English amateur champion G. E. Lerner, of 6 min. 26 sec., was still further reduced by that athlete a few days ago to 6 min. 25 2-5 sec. Lerner also won a two-mile race easily in 13 min. 21 2-5 sec.

The feat of walking 2000 miles in 1000 hours was accomplished in England the other day by James Buxton, a Derbyshire footballer, who weighed 12st at the beginning of the journey, and only 18st 7lb at its conclusion.
